BABY SAMARITAN IS DOING GREAT!

One day in January we had the opportunity to deliver much needed medical supplies and to pick up a young boy who had lost his eye in a knife accident at Amboin village. After unloading the medicine, Mark Palm was able to visit with a family he flew in one year ago. The family had been so thankful to God for the life saving service and ministry of Samaritan Aviation, that they named their young son Samaritan. We are humbled to be a part of baby Sam’s life and look forward to seeing him grow up in the coming years.

Fuel for Life is in Full Swing Saving Lives!

In 2016 we will fly an estimated 350 hours in the only two floatplanes in the remote jungles of Papua New Guinea. Each hour of flight will cost us $200 of fuel, which means we will consume $70,000 dollars of fuel by the end of the year.

One $200 contribution has the potential to save a life as well as impact multiple lives with the much needed medical supplies that we bring. Over the years, medical supply flights have saved literally thousands of lives. And from a spiritual perspective, one of the greatest ways of expressing God’s love is through being a servant to those that are unable to help themselves. That mission is accomplished through these flights of mercy.

DID YOU KNOW?...

The first thirty-days of 2016 have been the busiest days for flights in Papua New Guinea in our organization’s history! We flew in twenty-two patients suffering from pregnancy complications, poisonous snake bites, trauma wounds, and tuberculosis. A caregiver came with each patient giving us over forty people to minister and pray with in our hospital ministry. We have also delivered over 2,500 pounds of much needed medicine and vaccines to remote health centers and aid posts along the 700-mile Sepik River. Thank you for your partnership! It is because of your support that we are able to share God’s love in Papua New Guinea.
